EuroForth includes accomodation (2 nights) with breakfast, Friday and Saturday dinner, and, for the delegates, Friday, Saturday and Sunday lunch, and the proceedings. The Forth200x meeting includes accomodation (2 nights) with breakfast, Wednesday and Thursday dinner, and (for the delegates) Wednesday and Thursday lunch.

If you arrive after lunch (1pm) on the arrival day, book no arrival day lunch. If you depart before lunch on Sunday, you should book no Sunday lunch.

Accomodation will be in the 4-star Hotel "Erzherzog Rainer"; we have made a limited number of reservations that will expire after August 11; if you register late (or if there are unexpectedly many participants), we may have to arrange other accomodation and/or get different prices, which we will pass on to you (after checking back with you).

If you want to arrive earlier or leave later, you can book additional nights of accomodation (with breakfast) in the hotel. Please specify the arrival and departure dates. Note that for the additional night, we can offer the shared-double rate only if there is someone to share it with, otherwise you will have to pay the single-room rate.

Location

Vienna used to be the capital of the Habsburg empire and offers many sights and cultural institutions, in particular many fine arts and other museums, concert halls, opera houses, and theatres, as well as palaces with former and present government functions.

The conference will be held at TU Wien on a weekend during the university's summer vacation (so it will be fairly quiet). The TU Wien and the conference hotel are located close to the inner city and close to a major public transport hub (Karlsplatz). Vienna has a good public transport system, so there is no need to bring or rent a car.

Travel information

If you want to travel by plane or by train, I recommend booking early in order to get low fares (but better wait for our confirmation of your registration). You can find more travel and other information at the conference home page <http://www.euroforth.org/ef11.html>.

Papers

Papers are solicited on all aspects of Forth (applications, implementations, extensions, etc.) and related topics. There are two types of paper you can submit: refereed (academic stream), or unrefereed (industrial stream). Refereed papers will be reviewed by experts against criteria for scientific papers. For more details see the Call for Papers <http://www.euroforth.org/ef11/cfp.html>.
